"Footprints of God": Fr. Kevin McElhennon will lead a series of reflection evenings from February to April entitled "In The Footprints of God". These evenings are offered to everyone who would like to journey reflectively through the Gospel stories. By reflecting on the Gospel stories, and getting to know the people and places of the Gospels, we hope to deepen our faith and enrich our relationship with Jesus. Though open to everyone, these reflections will be especially beneficial for anyone who is intending to join us on our Holy land Pilgrimage (see above) as it is hoped that these reflections will enhance our experience and enjoyment of the Holy Land. Details of our planned Advent Reflection evenings will be published in a couple of weeks.

The Deep End – Back to the Future:

This year marks the 150th anniversary of the publication of Charles Darwin's book, The Origin of Species. Many scientists today accept that there is a huge body of evidence supporting the view that we have descended from an animal with chimpanzee-like capacities. If we have, then what we hear today's First Reading (Apoc 7:2-4, 9-14) telling us is all the more amazing. For there we have attained near god-like capacities.

Which is more difficult to believe: that a crude chimp is now a sophisticated human who composes sublime symphonies, produces fabulous works of art, explores cosmic vastness and penetrates atomic depths; or to believe that this human is destined for near divinity in a new ordering of creation?

Science serves truth in dull and detailed prose. Scripture sets it in sweeping story and inspiring imagery that lifts us higher than science can ever do. Science examines and reports. Scripture reveals and inspires. Science fixes us firmly to matter; scripture frees us as spirit.

Saints – all of them – are the poets among us. Not vice versa, though. They are, what the old pop song jingles out, 'poetry in motion'. As poetry opens pathways to understanding, refines human emotions and grants glimpses of transcendence we would not otherwise experience, so saints have done and continue to do through the generosity and sanctity of their lives. They show us what life can be like because of what it will be like. They bring the future to our doorstep.

Help to contain the swine flu impact: Everyone can play their part, and simple measures such as regular hand-washing and using a tissue can go some way towards mitigating this pandemic's impact. Irish News (18th July, 2009)

This Week's Calendar of Saints:

Tuesday 3 rd November –	St. Malachy Born near Armaghin in 1094. He introduced the Cistercians and the Canons
	Regular into Ireland. He died at Clairvaux in 1148.
Wednesday 4th November	- St. Charles Borromeo (1538-1584) Cardinal Archbishop of Milan at the age of twenty-one, worked for reform in his diocese, drafting the Catechism of the Council of Trent. Patron saint of catechists and seminarians.
Friday 6th November - All	the Saints of Ireland 'In the communion of saints, many and varied spiritualities have bee	n developed throughout the history of the Churches the different schools of Christian spir	ituality share in the living tradition of prayer and are essential guides for the faithful. In thei	r rich diversity they are refractions of the one pure light of the Holy Spirit' (CCC, 2684).
	St. Willibrord Was born in Northumbria in 658. He entered the Benedictine order
-	and was sent to study. After ordination he was sent with eleven companions to evangelise Frisia. He established a mission of Utrecht and in 695 was ordained Archbishop of Utrecht by Pope Sergius I. He founded a monastery at Echternach in Luxemburg in 700, where he died in 739.

Seeing your life through the lens of the gospels – Mark 5:1-12:

The blessings in the Beatitudes are primarily future blessings, but there can be an anticipation of the blessings in the present. At first reading, some Beatitudes may seem to describe circumstances that you would like to avoid at all costs. Read them slowly. Stay with each one for a while. Let yourself get a sense of the paradox involved in each one. Perhaps you have had an experience of a deeper and more authentic life, a blessing, when:

- you were poor you knew your need of God;
- you mourned could feel for others;
- you were meek not emotionally out of control;
- you hungered and thirsted for some cause;
- you were merciful rather than vengeful;
- you were pure in heart a person of integrity, whose actions and intentions correspond;
- you were a peacemaker;
- you were persecuted because you stood for something.

John Byrne OSA (john@orlagh.ie)

Questions people ask:

- Q. The liturgy recognises a special category of saints who were virgins. Isn't this a downgrading of marriage, which, after all, is a sacrament whereas virginity is not?
- A. What is celebrated is not their unmarried state, but, what Jesus called, virginity for the sake of the kingdom of heaven. This is a decision, with the help of God's grace, to be dedicated totally in mind, will and body to Christ as personal spouse and to the service of his kingdom. It anticipates the resurrected life of heaven where all-embracing love and unending life transcend the need for marriage (Mark 12:25). Consecrated virginity does not have a special sacrament because it is a flowering of baptismal union with Christ.
