This Week's Calendar of Saints:

- Monday 16th November – St. Margaret (1045-1093) Wife of Malcolm III, King of Scotland, helped by her example and influenced the work of reform in the Church.
St. Gertrude (1256-1302) A Benedictine nun, from the age of five she cultivated devotion to the Sacred Heart and advocated frequent Communion.
- Tuesday 17th November – St. Elizabeth of Hungary (1207-1231) Queen at fourteen, widowed and exiled at twenty. Franciscan tertiary until her death at twenty-four. A woman of prayer and service of the poor.
- Wednesday 17th November – Dedication of the Basilicas of Saints Peter and Paul in Rome There are four major basilicas in Rome and each of them has an observance on the Church's universal calendar: it is not so much the church buildings that we are honouring, as the saints to whom they are dedicated. Today's scripture readings focus our attention on the special grace God gave through two imperfect, impetuous, but exceptional men, Peter and Paul.
- Saturday 21st November – Feast of the Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary Originated in the East and was included on the General Calendar in the 16th century. With the feasts of Immaculate Conception and the Nativity of Mary, this feast reminds us that Mary was the chosen vessel of God from the very first moment of her life.

Seeing your life through the lens of the gospels – Mark 13:24-32:

1. Jesus speaks of the established order falling apart, but the collapse of the old order opened the way for new possibilities. When have you seen something new and hopeful emerge after the collapse of something that you had expected to endure much longer, perhaps even forever?
2. The parable of the fig tree. Even in winter it begins to put forth leaves which give a hint of the fruit to come. Where have you found signs of hope in a wintry situation – in your own life, in the life of some group, in the life of the Church?
3. Jesus proposes no clear time-scale for the events being foretold, so the final sentence (v.32) is a call to alertness, to live the present to the full. What difference does it make to you when you are able to live the present moment to the full?

Questions people ask:

- Q. Jesus spoke of a time when the sun would be darkened and the moon would lose its light. Does this refer to three days darkness when the only source of light will be blessed candles?
- A. The words of Jesus are in the context of the end of this material universe before the final triumph of God's reign. It is not meant as a message of terror but of hope in the anticipation of God's glory. This message of three days darkness is something that is predicted regularly by self-appointed prophets. Invariably the predicted date comes and goes without the darkness. Pay no attention to this nonsense but celebrate Christian hope every time you pray 'Thy Kingdom come'.

The Deep End – Beyond the Senses:

There are only two possibilities: human life has meaning or it hasn't. It has direction powered by purpose, or else it's like a fungus, free-floating on a speck of cosmic dust going nowhere fast. But if there is nothing beyond what we see, touch, taste, hear and smell from where comes the heart's deep yearning for things beyond the senses? Francis Thompson expresses that yearning in his poem, In No Strange Land: 'O world invisible, we view thee/O world intangible, we touch thee/O world unknowable, we know thee/Inapprehensible, we clutch thee!' That clutching is for that which gives life its mystery, for that which shatters the daily deceit of seemingly ordinary things to grace us with a glimpse of their grandeur. It's palpable in music that captives the soul, in poetry that punctuates the mundane with rhythm from another zone. It's in art that sates the eye with beauty transcending time. It's in people when they love, and even when they don't. When we're in touch with mystery today's First Reading (Dan 12:1-13) will not seem as bizarre as it might otherwise appear. Its style won't take from its substance. Resurrection of the dead is clearly central to God's plan for his creation. We need to focus on resurrection else death will have the final say. And the spot for that focus is life's ordinary things. Again Francis Thompson: 'Not where the wheeling systems darken/And our benumbed conceiving soars!/The drift of pinions, would we hearken/Beats at our own clay-shuttered doors.'
