Engaged Encounter's Rules for Arguing: Couples who discover they have a disagreement are invited by Engaged Encounter to share their opinions in the following manner. The sentences in italic following the rules are Jay Keenan's comments from his perspective as an Engaged Encounter leader with his wife Suzanne.

comments norm his perspective as an Engaged Encounter reader with his whe ouzanne.
No name calling	This includes using affectionate names sarcastically
No third parties	The argument is between the two of you
No past history	If it's already been settled, don't bring it up again
Stick to the subject	Identify the real problem — don't go to other issues
Ne sheer sheets	Don't use the other's weakness to gain advantage;
No cheap shots	you may win the argument, but injure your relationship
Don't go to bed angry	Finish the argument or call a truce and agree on a time to continue
Maintain a sense of humour	Don't take yourselves too seriously; laughter can be the best medicine
Hold hands while arguing	This helps to keep your focus where it belongs — on the person who means more to you than anyone in the world

Seeing your life through the lens of the gospels – Luke 9:18-24:

- 1. Jesus asks the disciples how people understand who he is and then asks them 'Who do you say I am?' How would you answer that question? What title or description would you give to describe who Jesus is for you?
- 2. Jesus goes on to teach his followers that discipleship is not about fame and honour. It is about living gospel values and will involve suffering, but that suffering will be a prelude to new life. When have you found that living gospel values was indeed costly but that you were glad you had paid that price?
- 3. The message of Jesus was not addressed just to his chosen twelve but 'to all'. Perhaps you also have found that it is a fact of life that we often have to pay in effort, time or patience, to experience growth, progress and the good things in life. Can you bring specific experiences to mind? John Byrne OSA (john@orlagh.ie)

Questions people ask:

- Q. What did Jesus mean in saying 'Anyone who wants to save his life will lose it; but anyone who loses his life for my sake will save it'?
- A. Here is a very important message for the people of our time. One of the fundamental errors of our age is the exaggerated focus on self-seeking, putting me at the centre of everything. Jesus regarded self-seeking as a disastrous programme for life. But self-denial in the service of love is the sure way to develop our human potential and reach deep fulfilment in life. It is in giving that we receive.

The Deep End – Crying Shame:

It's official: women cry more than men do. Researchers in Germany have discovered that while men shed tears six to 17 times a year women do so 30 to 64 times. And, whereas men go with the flow for two to four minutes, women's tear ducts, once activated, stay in hyper drive for up to six minutes. Furthermore, if a woman starts weeping she accelerates to full-blown sobbing in 65 percent of cases. For men, it's six percent. Now to end this mini-deluge of drippy data: women cry when they feel inadequate, face dicey situations, or when remembering past events; men cry from empathy, or because of a failed relationship.

That last bit makes me wonder how Peter feels in today's Gospel reading (Luke 9:18-24) when Jesus practically rebukes him for giving an honest answer to his question. Jesus is praying; stops for a moment, and as if still in prayer asks a worried question: 'Who do people say I am?' He doesn't react when his disciples say John the Baptist, or Elijah, or a prophet, but he comes down heavily on them when Peter nails him as the Messiah. This is too close to the bone. Jesus' hour for self-acceptance has not yet come. But it will. He journeys to self-knowledge and self-acceptance as we do: gradually.

On that same journey our personal question is not about what others think of me but about what I think of myself. Has my 'hour' come for my discovery and acceptance of self as God's son or daughter? If not, what a crying shame!
